

The editor and producer of this podcast is Andrew Perry, MD. Andrew is a third year resident physician at Barnes-Jewish Hospital and Washington University School of Medicine, in St Louis. He plans on becoming a cardiologist, like his father. Andrew will begin his Cardiology fellowship at the University of Washington after completing his residency in June of 2019. When he is not on the wards or interviewing, Andrew is often found on his bike.

Please visit Andrew's page <http://apcardiology.com> for more information.